

Participation and Engagement: How Are We Doing?

Glasgow City HSCP is currently reviewing its participation and engagement arrangements with a view to developing a new Participation and Engagement Action Plan. The review is looking at a number of areas including:

- The Public Engagement Committee
- Strategic Planning Groups
- The Communications Strategy
- Locality based engagement arrangements
- Links between strategic and local decision making

Your feedback, comments and suggestions will help us to shape the new Action Plan. Please come along to the next South Locality Engagement Network Session (below) to find out how you can get involved in shaping the way we communicate with and involve you in, planning and decision making about HSCP services.

You can find out more about the review here:

Fun in the Sun at New Gorbals Health and Care Centre

The sun shone on Saturday 20th July for the hundreds of people who came along to the 'Party in the Piazza' community event held in the Gorbals. The fun filled event celebrated the regeneration of the former Sandiefield Road site which has been transformed into an attractive and accessible public space featuring New Gorbals Health and Care Centre, office accommodation for New Gorbals Housing Association, a social housing development and a public realm/events space for community use.

The Party in The Piazza event was delivered as a partnership between the HSCP and New Gorbals Housing Association and included activities such as; guided tours of both buildings, arts and crafts, sports taster sessions, cooking demos, information stalls, planting activities, a treasure hunt, music and a BBQ.

Wave Particle, the organisation commissioned to deliver an art strategy for the centre also held a formal launch, celebrating the contribution of local residents to the art work that is integrated into the building.

HSCP staff and local organisations were on hand to offer information and advice on a wide range of health, care and community services.
