

EQUALITY IMPACT ASSESSMENT (EQIA): SCREENING FORM

Introduction to the EQIA screening process

A successful EQIA screening will look at 5 key areas:

1. Identify the Policy, Project, Service Reform or Budget Option to be assessed

A clear definition of what is being screened and its aims

2. Gathering Evidence & Stakeholder Engagement

Collect data to evidence the type of barriers people face to accessing services (research, consultations, complaints and/or consult with equality groups)

3. Assessment & Differential Impacts

Reaching an informed decision on whether or not there is a differential impact on equality groups, and at what level

4. Outcomes, Action & Public Reporting

Develop an action plan to make changes where a negative impact has been assessed. Ensure that both the assessment outcomes and the actions taken to address negative impacts are publically reported

5. Monitoring, Evaluation & Review

Stating how you will monitor and evaluate the Policy, Project, Service Reform or Budget Option to ensure that you are continuing to achieve the expected outcomes for all groups.

1. IDENTIFY THE POLICY, PROJECT, SERVICE REFORM OR BUDGET OPTION:

a) Name of the Policy, Project, Service Reform or Budget Option to be screened

Glasgow City IJB Strategic Plan 2023-26: Approach to engagement

b) Reason for Change in Policy or Policy Development

The Integration Joint Board is required to produce a Strategic Plan for health and social care services, and to direct the Council and Health Board to deliver those services as per the plan. Legislation prescribes that the plan be reviewed every three years, with a decision taken on whether or not to replace the existing Plan.

The current Strategic Plan 2019-22 is due for review by March 2022. The legislation allows for the Strategic Plan to continue beyond March 2022 if this is the outcome of consultation completed within the prescribed timeframe and via the prescribed minimum consultation requirements.

The approach to stakeholder engagement and communication across the sector has changed dramatically since the onset of the pandemic and offers additional challenges and opportunities for seeking the views of people for the Strategic Plan. Understanding those challenges and opportunities, and identifying how they can be overcome and/or maximised will have a significant bearing on the success of the engagement effort in relation to development of the next Plan.

In September 2020 the IJB approved the HSCP's revised Participation & Engagement Strategy, which outlines the HSCPs commitment to empowering communities to become involved in designing services that affect them.

Due to a range of external factors that will impact on the health and social care landscape (including Covid recovery, the Independent Review of Adult Social Care, Scottish Parliamentary elections and Brexit) it was agreed to extend the lifetime of the current Strategic Plan by 12 months, from March 2022. This will give the IJB/HSCP and all of its stakeholders an opportunity to understand and evaluate how external factors will impact on the health and social care landscape for the short to medium term and enable the engagement effort to include consideration of those impacts more fully.

Glasgow City HSCP are planning a new approach to engagement for the review and development of the next iteration of the Strategic Plan. During the pandemic organisations across the sector have required to fundamentally alter or develop the way they communicate and engage with people. This will have resulted in opportunities for engaging on a much larger scale and potentially with groups that have not traditionally engaged with engagement methods such as large scale, public-facing events or surveys.

Officers within the HSCP are working with our partners in the 3rd and independent sectors to identify the current engagement channels and co-produce the engagement activity for the review of the Strategic Plan. This will involve, wherever possible, tailoring the approach to the preferences of individuals and groups and delegating responsibility for elements of an agreed engagement plan to those organisations and groups. It is hoped this would enrich the feedback received, as well as vastly increasing engagement from communities and subsequently to a more representative and relevant Strategic Plan. Similar discussions are ongoing within the HSCP with equality and diversity and communication and engagement representatives to ensure the approach to engaging with staff is similarly robust and accessible.

This approach to engagement is in line with the HSCP's Participation and Engagement Strategy and Consultation guidelines, and fits within the context of the Scottish Government and COSLA's recently published Planning with People guidance for engagement and the National Standards for Community Engagement.

This EQIA offers an initial assessment of the impact of the approach to engagement outlined above and how the HSCP plan to mitigate any barriers or negative impacts identified. This EQIA is being completed at an early stage of the discussions with our external partners and internal colleagues around the agreed and co-produced engagement approach and therefore the EQIA will be regularly reviewed to identify any updates that may be required.

c) List main outcome focus and supporting activities of the Policy, Project, Service Reform or Budget Option

The engagement approach to which this EQIA relates is designed to ensure the HSCP makes the best possible use of the knowledge, experience and expertise of our partners in the 3rd and Independent sectors to co-produce an approach to engagement that provides ample opportunity to communities across the city to engage in the review of the current Strategic Plan and development of a new Plan for 2023-26.

The engagement approach to be agreed should consider the best means to reach the various communities across the city, including those traditionally described as "hard to reach" and those which the HSCP has not successfully engaged with during previous Strategic Plan reviews due to issues of time and resource. The HSCP wishes to harness the learning around engagement methods and preferences which has emerged during the response of the sector to the Covid-19 pandemic, in acknowledgement that the HSCP will be most successful in engaging with diverse communities across the city if it listens to what these groups and communities have to say in relation to engagement preferences and methods.

One of the key outcomes of a co-produced engagement approach is to develop an approach that is accessible for as many people with an interest in the planning and delivery of health and social care as possible and facilitating the empowerment of our partners to carry out the engagement with their respective groups of stakeholders wherever possible and feasible. This way citizens will have the option to engage with people they already know, in ways that are preferable and/or familiar to them, rather than the traditional consultation/engagement methods employed by the HSCP/IJB (and other large public sector bodies). Often these are not tailored to specific groups and insufficiently accessible to encourage maximum engagement and a representative range of views to inform the matter under discussion.

A key aim of the development of the engagement approach is to ensure efforts are made to provide equity of access to engagement in the review among groups from across the city, but with a focus on ensuring groups and individuals with protected characteristics are integral to the planning process.

2. GATHERING EVIDENCE & STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT

The best approach to find out if a policy, etc is likely to impact positively or negatively on equality groups is to look at existing research, previous consultation recommendations, studies or consult with representatives of those groups. You should list below any data, consultations (previous relevant or future planned), or any relevant research or analysis that supports the Policy, Project, Service Reform or Budget Option being undertaken.

Please name any research, data, consultation or studies referred to for this assessment:	Please state if this reference refers to one or more of the protected characteristics: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ➤ age ➤ disability, ➤ race and/or ethnicity, ➤ religion or belief (including lack of belief), ➤ gender, ➤ gender reassignment, ➤ sexual orientation ➤ marriage and civil partnership, ➤ pregnancy and maternity, 	Do you intend to set up your own consultation? If so, please list the main issues that you wish to address if the consultation is planned; or if consultation has been completed, please note the outcome(s) of consultation.

3. ASSESSMENT & DIFFERENTIAL IMPACTS

Use the table below to provide some narrative where you think the Policy, Project, Service Reform or Budget Option has either a positive impact (contributes to promoting equality or improving relations within an equality group) or a negative impact (could disadvantage them) and note the reason for the change in policy or the reason for policy development, based on the evidence you have collated.

Summary of Protected Characteristics Most Impacted

The protected characteristics most impacted are:

It is not expected that any specific protected characteristic is impacted more. This EQIA pertains to the development of an engagement approach to support the review of the Strategic Plan with all sections of the community in the city. The EQIA relates to the intention to engage with relevant stakeholders/groups/organisations to better understand the barriers to engagement, the preferences in terms of engagement and to identify where and how barriers can be overcome. If the engagement with stakeholders leads to an agreed engagement approach which leads to an assessment that certain protected characteristics are at particular detriment the EQIA will be updated to reflect this and to identify any mitigating actions that can be put in place as a result.

Summary of Socio-Economic Impacts

As part of the discussions with stakeholders to agree an approach to engagement that identifies and mitigates barriers to engaging the HSCP will explore whether any groups are disadvantaged on the grounds of their socio-economic status. The HSCP fully understands that there may be a requirement to facilitate engagement, across all protected characteristics, with people who lack the means to do so due to their socio-economic status. This may be as a result of lack of access to the means to engage (such as access to wi-fi or IT hardware) or enabling and supporting face to face engagement that requires access to financial resources.

Summary of Human Rights Impacts

5. MONITORING OUTCOMES, EVALUATION & REVIEW

The Equalities Impact Assessment (EQIA) screening is not an end in itself but the start of a continuous monitoring and review process. The relevant Strategic, Policy, or Operational Group responsible for the delivery of the Policy, Project, Service Reform or Budget Option, is also responsible for monitoring and reviewing the EQIA Screening and any actions that may have been take to mitigate impacts.

Legislation

Equality Act (2010) - the Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) Scotland Regulations 2012

The 2010 Act consolidated previous equalities legislation to protect people from discrimination on grounds of:

- race
- sex
- being a transsexual person (transsexuality is where someone has changed, is changing or has proposed changing their sex – called ‘gender reassignment’ in law)
- sexual orientation (whether being lesbian, gay, bisexual or heterosexual)
- disability (or because of something connected with their disability)
- religion or belief
- having just had a baby or being pregnant
- being married or in a civil partnership, and
- age.

Further information: Equality Act Guidance

As noted the Equality Act 2010 simplifies the current laws and puts them all together in one piece of legislation. In addition the Specific Duties (Scotland Regulations 2012) require local authorities to do the following to enable better performance of the general equality duty:

- report progress on mainstreaming the general equality duty
- publish equality outcomes and report progress in meeting those
- impact assess new or revised policies and practices as well as making arrangements to review existing policies and practices
- gather, use and publish employee information
- publish gender pay gap information and an equal pay statement
- consider adding equality award criteria and contract conditions in public procurement exercises.

Authorities should also consider Socio-Economic Impacts where appropriate. Further information: Fairer Scotland Duty Interim Guidance

Enforcement

Judicial review of an authority can be taken by any person, including the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) or a group of people, with an interest, in respect of alleged failure to comply with the general equality duty. Only the EHRC can enforce the specific duties. A failure to comply with the specific duties may however be used as evidence of a failure to comply with the general duty.
