NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde Equality Impact Assessment Tool

Equality Impact Assessment is a legal requirement as set out in the Equality Act (2010) and the Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties)(Scotland) regulations 2012 and may be used as evidence for cases referred for further investigation for compliance issues. Please refer to the EQIA Guidance Document while completing this form. Please note that prior to starting an EQIA all Lead Reviewers are required to attend a Lead Reviewer training session or arrange to meet with a member of the Equality and Human Rights Team to discuss the process. Please contact CITAdminTeam@ggc.scot.nhs.uk for further details or call 0141 2014560.

Name of Policy/Service Review/Service Development/Service Redesign/New Service:

Tender for Homelessness Outreach Services – All In For Glasgow

Is this a: Current Service Service Development Service Redesign New Service New Policy Policy Review

Description of the service & rationale for selection for EQIA: (Please state if this is part of a Board-wide service or is locally driven).

What does the service or policy do/aim to achieve? Please give as much information as you can, remembering that this document will be published in the public domain and should promote transparency.

Why was this service or policy selected for EQIA? Where does it link to organisational priorities? (If no link, please provide evidence of proportionality, relevance, potential legal risk etc.)

Glasgow City Council has a statutory duty for the prevention and alleviation of homelessness in Glasgow. These duties are discharged through Glasgow City Health and Social Care Partnership under the direction of the IJB. In November 2023 Glasgow City Council declared a housing emergency.

Commissioned Homelessness services were previously contracted to the Glasgow Alliance to End Homelessness [“The Alliance”] to manage on behalf of the HSCP. The Alliance included representatives of providers and the HSCP. When the Alliance ended in 2023, responsibility for procurement and contract management of purchased Homelessness services were transferred to HSCP Commissioning team. Commissioned homeless services work alongside HSCP casework and other operational staff as well as directly provided services to meet the council’s statutory duties in respect of homelessness.

Broadly these services fall into two categories – accommodation based services and outreach services. The latter category encompasses a number of delivery models including flexible outreach support in the individual’s homes, outreach support linked to a RSL tenancy, Housing First, and the provision of ‘hubs’. These outreach services are delivered by a number of social care providers under contracts operating on a legacy basis. The aim of these services is to prevent homelessness by supporting individuals to maintain their current accommodation arrangements or by supporting previously homeless individuals who are being resettled into new accommodation.

Building on previous work undertaken by the Alliance, Glasgow City Integrated Joint Board approved the review and redesign of homelessness services in the city using a co-production approach aligned to the principles of ethical commissioning. Homeless Network Scotland were contracted to lead this work under the banner of All in for Glasgow ["AIFG"]. Outreach services were selected for the first phase of AIFG as work already undertaken by the Alliance provided an advanced starting point for the redesign of these services. The collaborative approach was demonstrated by the invitation to partners from across homelessness in Glasgow, and Scotland, to participate in five sessions focused on the outreach support services: These sessions had significant participation from individuals with lived and living experience through the Glasgow Homelessness Involvement & Feedback Team (GHIFT).

Homeless outreach services are provided to a wide range of people across Glasgow. An EQIA is being produced to support the redesign and procurement of these services and to identify any ways that the redesign may impact those with protected characteristics and how any impact can be mitigated while ensuring that the Council's statutory duties in relation to Homelessness while recognising the requirement for the HSCP to maintain a balanced budget. This EQIA is restricted to the outreach services noted above. It is expected that there will be parallel work undertaken in the future in relation to accommodation based services.

The redesign of services under AIFG has been undertaken in alignment with the principles of ethical commissioning and co-production has been at the centre of all redesign activity. The voice of individuals with lived and living experience of Homelessness has been at the heart of this activity. The aim of AIFG is to propose effective, outcome focused homelessness services that have trauma informed and human rights approaches while being delivered within the available financial envelope. It is recognised within the AIFG process that there is a need to streamline referral and support processes to improve access to and consistency of support. The need to deliver this support with a clear focus on preventing and reducing homelessness has been emphasised throughout the AIFG programme. The name given for the redesigned services is Housing WAYfinder, which was suggested by those with lived experience of homelessness.

The Service Specification for the Housing WAYfinder services is explicit in its promotion of equality. Provider are expected to have an understanding of the complex needs associated with homelessness. Individuals who experience homelessness may present with a range of support needs such as:

- history of trauma
- current or previous addiction including intravenous drug use
- vulnerability to social isolation, harm or exploitation
- mental and physical health needs
- affected by gender-based violence
- issues around gender or sexual orientation
- suffering effects of religious, racial, gender based or other discrimination
- language support and communication support needs due to literacy or language barriers
- younger people, some of whom will be care experienced

Housing WAYfinder will:

OFFICIAL

OFFICIAL

- embody the no wrong door approach and people will be able to access the service at any stage
- embed the suggested recommendations by the Independent Review of Adult Social Care into service delivery
- support people face to face, on the street, in their accommodation or their community, and will also be available remotely
- explore options to co-locate with existing housing advice hubs/day centres or provide/co-provide a WAYfinder hub

- provide out of hours support in partnership with the Glasgow and Partners Emergency Social Work service.
- co-locate with existing statutory services.
- offer different tiers of support which will be able to flex up and flex down as a person's needs change.
- employ the principal of the 'sticky' support team. The same team of named workers supporting people through their entire homeless journey.
- deliver seamless transition between support providers.
- offer an intensive street outreach service for people who rough sleep.
- offer access to funds for people in crisis.

The focus within the service redesign, directed by lived experience, has been to maintain consistency of support where possible and therefore providers will be expected to have experience of and deliver appropriate services to all of the above as well as other protected characteristics. Services will be expected to make adjustments in line with the requirements of the Equality Act 2010. The principal changes as a result of the redesign are

- Align the current disparate outreach support arrangements into a unified service where a 'no wrong door' approach is offered for individuals who require the service
- Employ the principal of a 'sticky' support team who provide consistent delivery during an individual's journey through homelessness
- Consistency of delivery and effective transition will be facilitated by shared processes across each of the partner providers and the creation of a Provider Forum will ensure effective co-provision
- Deliver a trauma informed approach to ensuring that individuals are supported out of homelessness effectively
- Encourage co-location and partnership working with local communities and existing statutory services including Health & Social Care Connect
- Deliver standard and enhanced support that can flex up and down in response to the needs of individuals
- Provide seamless support to individuals even where multiple partner providers are involved
- Allow the future development of the service including tenancy sustainment and access to funds and training opportunities for individuals

10. In addition to understanding and responding to legal responsibilities set out in Equality Act (2010), services must pay due regard to ensure a person's human rights are protected in all aspects of health and social care provision. This may be more obvious in some areas than others. For instance, mental health inpatient care or older people's residential care may be considered higher risk in terms of potential human rights breach due to potential removal of liberty, seclusion or application of restraint. However risk may also involve fundamental gaps like not providing access to communication support, not involving patients/service users in decisions relating to their care, making decisions that infringe the rights of carers to participate in society or not respecting someone's right to dignity or privacy.

The Human Rights Act sets out rights in a series of articles – right to Life, right to freedom from torture and inhumane and degrading treatment, freedom from slavery and forced labour, right to liberty and security, right to a fair trial, no punishment without law, right to respect for private and family life, right to freedom of thought, belief and religion, right to freedom of expression, right to freedom of assembly and association, right to marry, right to protection from discrimination.

Please explain in the field below if any risks in relation to the service design or policy were identified which could impact on the human rights of patients, service users or staff.

No specific risks in relation to Human Rights were identified as part of the AIFG service redesign with people with lived and living experience at the centre of that process. It is acknowledged that some protected groups are over represented in the wider homeless population and the WAYfinder service will ensure equality of opportunity and remove barriers to access. GCHSCP monitoring will ensure compliance with this while a culture of review and continuous improvement will seek to ensure that best practice is maintained. The service will operate in compliance with the Human Rights Act and the Equality Act.

Please explain in the field below any human rights based approaches undertaken to better understand rights and responsibilities resulting from the service or policy development and what measures have been taken as a result e.g. applying the PANEL Principles to maximise Participation, Accountability, Non-discrimination and Equality, Empowerment and Legality or FAIR* .

Homeless Network Scotland were commissioned to undertake the All in for Glasgow review for GCHSCP. This co-produced programme was closely aligned to the principles of ethical commissioning. The participation of people who had experienced or were experiencing homelessness in the analysis and design of the service was Having completed the EQIA template, please tick which option you (Lead Reviewer) perceive best reflects the findings of the assessment. This can be cross-checked via the Quality Assurance process:

Option 1: No major change (where no impact or potential for improvement is found, no action is required)

Option 2: Adjust (where a potential or actual negative impact or potential for a more positive impact is found, make changes to mitigate risks or make improvements)

Option 3: Continue (where a potential or actual negative impact or potential for a more positive impact is found but a decision not to make a change can be objectively justified, continue without making changes)

Option 4: Stop and remove (where a serious risk of negative impact is found, the plans, policies etc. being assessed should be halted until these issues can be addressed)

11. If you believe your service is doing something that 'stands out' as an example of good practice - for instance you are routinely collecting patient data on sexual orientation, faith etc. - please use the box below to describe the activity and the benefits this has brought to the service. This information will help others consider opportunities for developments in their own services.

Actions – from the additional mitigating action requirements boxes completed above, please summarise the actions this service will be taking forward.
