Executive Leadership Team Profiles

NHS
Greater Glasgow
and Clyde

Introduction from the Interim Chief Officer

As the Interim Chief Officer of the Glasgow City Health and Social Care Partnership, I am very aware that the scale, size and complexity of our structures and service responsibilities can be difficult to understand. I thought it would be helpful to introduce our Executive Leadership Team to hopefully better explain who we are and what we do. As an Executive Leadership Team we are hugely reliant on and appreciative of the work of our wider leadership teams and frontline staff delivering high quality health and care services in Glasgow.

I do hope you find this useful and if you have any further enquiries on our work please visit our website at www.glasgowcity.hscp.scot.

Many thanks,

Susanne

Introduction

Glasgow City Health and Social Care Partnership \(HSCP\) is the partnership between Glasgow City Council and NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde for the planning and delivery of health and social care services in Glasgow City, which is led and directed by the Glasgow City Integration Joint Board \(IJB\).

The Partnership comprises of around 12,000 Social Work Services (Glasgow City Council) and Health (NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde) staff who support the planning and delivery of services. It is led by an integrated Executive Leadership and Senior Management Team, and it provides services through the three localities of North East, North West and South. This includes directly provided services such as day, home and residential care and services delivered by health and social care contractors and providers. Some services are provided across the NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde Health Board area (for example, Sexual Health Services).

A diagram of the Executive Leadership and Senior Management Team is available on the Partnership's website. The Executive Leadership and Senior Management Team leads on strategic planning and policy development support to the Glasgow City IJB. It also leads on the operational management of delivering services.

This briefing provides an overview of responsibilities of members of the Executive Leadership Team.

Executive Leadership Team

Susanne Millar

Interim Chief Officer

Email susanne.millar@glasgow.gov.uk

Role and Background

As the Interim Chief Officer of Glasgow City HSCP, Susanne has lead responsibility for strategic planning and policy development support to the IJB. She also has delegated operational responsibility for the delivery of all services across Glasgow City's integrated health and social care system, ensuring there are governance and management arrangements in place for their effective working. This includes delegated responsibility for workforce governance and professional standards for staff. Susanne also leads on the transformation of integrated health and social care services across the city.

Susanne is a member of both the Council and Health Board senior management teams, and she is accountable to the Chief Executives of both partner bodies. It is through the Chief Officer and line management structure that Council (Social Work Services) and NHS (Health) staff are responsible to their respective employing organisation.

Susanne is a non-voting member and professional advisor to the IJB in her role as its Chief Officer.

Susanne has always worked in Glasgow; firstly in residential care for older people, then after completing a postgraduate in Social Work in 1990, in area teams for vulnerable children and families. After six years she moved into strategy and planning, firstly in Children's Services, then in Adult Services.

In 2006 she became the Head of Children's Services in Glasgow, then assumed the additional roles of Head of Homelessness and Asylum Services. In 2012 she became Glasgow City Council's Assistant Director for Social Work Services and Chief Social Work Officer.

In 2014 Susanne took on senior integrated roles within Glasgow City HSCP for health and social care services in the city, more recently as its Chief Officer, Strategy and Operations, while retaining her Chief Social Work Officer role. She was promoted to Interim Chief Officer to the HSCP and IJB in 2019.

Main Functional and Service Areas of Responsibility

- Lead for strategic planning and policy development support to the IJB for all health and social care services and functions delegated to it.
- Delegated operational responsibility for the delivery of integrated health and social care services.
- Delegated responsibility for workforce governance.
- Delegated responsibility for integrated clinical and professional governance.

Sharon Wearing

Chief Officer,
Finance and Resources

Email sharon.wearing@glasgow.gov.uk

Role and Background

Supporting the Chief Officer, Sharon has lead responsibility for the strategic planning, policy development and operational delivery of the Finance and Resources (including the Property and Capital Programme), Human Resources, Organisational Development and Business Development functions across the HSCP's integrated health and social care system.

This includes the provision of expertise and advice on essential financial matters and reporting, and ensuring there are controls in place for their effective management.

Sharon is a non-voting member and professional advisor to the IJB in her role as its Section 95 Officer. She supports the administration of its financial affairs and reporting requirements in line with legislation and regulations. She is also the lead HSCP officer for the IJB Finance, Audit and Scrutiny Committee.

Sharon has worked in local government since 1992, first joining Strathclyde Regional Council as an Internal Auditor. Prior to this she had worked with the National Audit Office, where she trained as an accountant.

Sharon joined Glasgow City Council, Social Work Services in 1996 following local government re-organisation. She has held various posts within Social Work Services over the years, including posts within Community Care Finance, Head of Finance and Head of Service Development. She had functional responsibility for Finance, Human Resources, Service Modernisation, Planning, Performance, Research, Training and Administration.

In 2015 she took up the integrated role of Chief Officer, Finance and Resources within Glasgow City HSCP for all health and social work services in the city and also became the IJB's Section 95 Officer.

Dr. Julia Egan

Chief Nurse

Email julia.egan@ggc.scot.nhs.uk

Role and Background

Supporting the Chief Officer, Julia provides professional clinical leadership, advice and support for Nursing and Health Visiting/Public Health to Glasgow City HSCP's Senior Management Team and wider HSCP and multi-disciplinary health staff, including all Nurses and Health Visitors within Glasgow City HSCP and hosted services.

As part of her role, Julia contributes to HSCP strategic planning, and she supports the Chief Officer to manage the delivery of a range of high quality, economic, safe, efficient and person-centred services in compliance with national and local targets. She has a key role in the HSCP's integrated clinical and care governance arrangements. This includes leading on systematic improvements in clinical care and healthcare quality by nursing staff within the HSCP, and fostering a culture that values continuing professional development and patient safety and care. A key objective of Julia's role is to ensure connections between IJB/HSCP and professional strategic direction and developments, and to maximise transformational opportunities to ensure connections across services, roles and disciplines.

Julia is a non-voting member and professional advisor to the IJB in her capacity as a Registered Nurse and Health Visitor/Public Health practitioner.

Julia qualified as a Nurse in 1987 in Manchester and worked as Ward Sister until 1990. She then trained and worked as a Health Visitor in London and Kent in 1990, with a focus on domestic violence, mental health, homelessness and child protection. Following this, she spent two years as a Practice Development Manager and three years as a Strategy Co-ordinator and Associate Director of Nursing for community services.

In 2001 Julia moved to Scotland and became Consultant in Public Health (Nursing) in Tayside, where her portfolio included vulnerable groups - health and homelessness, prison healthcare, violence against women and public protection and children and young people. She also studied for a PhD at St. Andrews and Dundee Universities exploring the relationship between leadership behaviours and culture within the NHS.

In 2013 Julia was seconded to the Scottish Government for five years working for the Chief Nurses Directorate, where she was a professional advisor for Public Health and Children and Young People (acute and community). She spent 2018 working part-time in this role alongside leading on the vaccination transformation programme element of Tayside's primary care improvement plan.

Julia took up her current role as Glasgow City HSCP's Chief Nurse in 2018.
