Delayed Discharges

Hospital discharge has continued to present a significant challenge to the HSCP over the past 6 weeks, with very high volumes of discharge a reflection of very high occupancy levels in hospitals, coupled with a high number of ward closures related to flu and norovirus.

For example, in the 2024 Christmas week the HSCP effected 67 non-home care discharges, compared to 9 in the same week the previous year.

The resulting significant reductions in delayed patients at year-end have again since been overtaken by very high volumes of discharges since the new year, which the HSCP are again responding to with high levels of social work activity.

Until the daily discharge numbers return to normal levels, it can be expected that the delayed discharge numbers will remain relatively high, even though discharge numbers themselves remain high.

Adults with Incapacity (AWI) continues to be a particular challenge for Glasgow. In the 2024 Christmas week AWI delays constituted more than 50% of all delays, which is without precedent.

Another marked trend is the increased number of complex adult patients under 65 who can often be difficult to discharge into the community. This includes an increasing number of patients with spinal injuries, MND, etc.

Although the attention tends to be on the pressures faced by hospitals and their staff, it should be acknowledged that the very high volumes also impact on HSCP staff and budgets. The teams have been very busy.

The HSCP continue to do all within our power to manage these pressures, including bringing additional staff resources in to support throughput, engaging with the care home sector to accelerate discharges wherever possible and sweating all available assets such as commissioned Intermediate Care places to optimise through flow.

However, it should be noted that this remains a whole system under unprecedented pressure in respect of both volume and complexity of patients being discharged from hospital. This will be the reality of the system going forward.

Child Abuse Case

The sentencing has taken place of the adults involved in one of the most complex and horrendous episodes of child abuse. The children involved remain an absolute priority of the HSCP, especially given the recent media attention and the impact this could have on them. This has been challenging for all concerned and the necessary support will be required moving forward. A case learning review has been commissioned and an independent lead reviewer has been appointed. The findings will be implemented through an agreed action plan approved through Glasgow City HSCP governance arrangements, including the Glasgow Child Protection Committee.
