1. Purpose

- 1.1 To report on the Glasgow Local Child Poverty Action Report (LCPAR) published in line with the Child Poverty (Scotland) Act and the GCHSCP contribution to this.

2. Background

- 2.1 Under the Child Poverty (Scotland) Act 2017 ('the Act'), Local Authorities and NHS Boards have a statutory duty to jointly develop and publish annual Local Child Poverty Action Reports (LCPARs). This is Glasgow's fourth LCPAR, it includes work undertaken through GCHSCP and from the third sector (see Appendix 1).

- 2.2 The Act sets out four ambitious targets for 2030, which are shown below, (bracketed figures are the interim 2023 targets):

- Less than 10% of children are in relative poverty (18%)
Relative poverty is where income is below 60% of the middle household income in the UK
- Less than 5% of children are in absolute poverty (14%)
Absolute poverty is where income is below the poverty threshold from 2010/11.
- Less than 5% of children are in combined low income and material deprivation (8%)

OFFICIAL

OFFICIAL

The proportion of children in families that cannot afford basic essential goods and services because of a low income (below 70% of the middle household income)

- Less than 5% of children are in persistent poverty (8%)
In relative poverty for three or more out of four years

2.3 The three main drivers of child poverty, and therefore mitigation action are:

- Income from work
- Cost of living
- Income from Social Security and Benefits in kind.

2.4 For the third year, Glasgow City Council has undertaken local analysis of levels of child poverty in the city through the Centre for Civic Innovation (CCI) analysis of Council held data for families in receipt of Housing Benefit (HB) and Council Tax Reductions (CTR). Further CCI analysis described in the LCPAR breaks this data down into more detail, in summary:

- There are 2,510 more children living in relative poverty than before the pandemic; 27,995 children (26%) compared to 25,485 (24%) in February 2020.
- Poverty levels have deepened and on average families in relative poverty are now £115 per week below the poverty line compared to £107 per week pre pandemic.
- Families where at least one adult is in employment are, on average, £69 per week worse off and this has increased by £12pw during the pandemic. Where there are no adults in employment, on average households with children are £10 per week worse off than pre pandemic at £122 per week below the poverty line.
- The pandemic has resulted in an additional 1,650 children in lone parent families living in relative poverty. These children, now totaling 17,792, live in households that are on average £110 below the poverty line.
- Families in households where there is someone with a disability are on average £71 per week below the poverty line.

2.5 The LCPAR also provides details of almost 60 projects initiated by community planning partners to tackle child poverty and bring some relief to the families of Glasgow. However, the relentlessness of the cost-of-living crisis will undermine these mitigations. It must be expected that more families will get caught in the poverty trap, which makes our support all the more vital if we are to relieve the pressure on families and have a more equal society.

3. LCPAR 2021/22 Summary

- 3.1 The report describes the activity and progress for the previous year and the planned activities for 2022. For readability the LCPAR focuses on new programmes in that period, categorised under the three main drivers.
- 3.2 The income from work section focuses on the work generated from the Parental Employability Support Fund (PESF) investment which works to support more families into work, critically considering childcare.
- 3.3 One of the significant measures to reduce the cost of living for children and families has been ensuring optimal uptake of the free bus travel for 5-21 year olds in Glasgow. The city has around 119,000 eligible children and young people and significant effort has been made through schools, working with Glasgow Life and GCC staff to support the application process for the required travel card. Over 50,000 young people have been supported to receive the travel card.
- 3.4 The income from welfare provisions focuses on the newly expanded financial advice support being provided to families through schools (FISO service) to reduce costs of living for families and improve the uptake of eligible benefits for families. FISO has now been extended to 49 schools (29 secondary schools). The primary purpose of FISO is to support families and alleviate poverty, by providing one to one support for clients up to and including type three support in the fields of welfare rights and debt reconciliation. The service has been extended from an initial pilot phase and evaluation in 2020/21.
- 3.5 It is anticipated that future efforts will include Childcare and Employment opportunities as these are significant contributors. The report also reflects on the new Child Poverty Pathfinder initiative with the Scottish Government. The pathfinder covers:
- Funding and commissioning
  - Standardising eligibility criteria across school-based benefits for families
  - Developing the 'no wrong door' approach of being able to access financial support more easily and at point of need
  - Accountability and Culture.
- 3.6 The extensiveness of the mitigation against child poverty is reflected in the report, and the ambitions that city partners are keen to continue to work to address.

4. GCHSCP Child Poverty Action

- 4.1 Staff within GCHSCP are actively engaged in developing and delivering on the child poverty agenda. During 2021/22 this has included:
- 4.1.1 Financial Advocacy service for women in the Special Needs in Pregnancy (SNIP's) pathway, funded from multiple sources. The service aims to help address existing financial or welfare issues and build resilience for the future. A total of 243 referrals were made to the service during 2021/22 and a total of 258 repeat clients were also seen. Financial gains of £381,978.34 were secured for clients last year, and a further £51,380.85 of debt managed. The profile of service users includes:

- 99% of women supported would be classed as living in poverty when referred (often with less than £6k pa income from all sources)
- 61% of service users identified that they had a disability
- 49% of new service users were from Black and Minority Ethnic groups and 52% have needed an interpreter to engage with the service
- 53% of those who used the service were under 25 years old
- 22% were lone parents with dependents and a further 43% were single parents who were expecting their first child.

- 4.1.2 The Healthier Wealthier Children service enables midwives and health visitors to refer families for financial advice, recognising that having children significantly affects family finances. The service is both preventative and mitigates for families that are struggling. The service has been in place for a decade now and the financial and well-being elements demonstrated Healthier, Wealthier Children Project \(gcph.co.uk\). Last year 3,085 families were supported through the service.
- 4.1.3 In September 2022, members approved changes to enable Children's Services' Health Visiting and Glasgow City Family Nurse Partnership staff to make Section 22 destitution payments to enable a more flexible, needs-led response to financial hardship, fuel poverty and destitution. Families are then able to be referred into Healthier Wealthier Children for broader financial advice and services.
- 4.1.4 Direct payments have been approved, issued and evaluated to families being supported by HSCP services. Initiated during the pandemic the IJB approved the Wellbeing Activity Budget over the summer of 2021, following the positive feedback from the Winter Payments received by families, and the evidence that this helped to address families' mental health needs. 2,765 families received a payment of approximately £300 per child/ young person. The payments were issued to enhance wellbeing and mental health, particularly in circumstances where the child, young person or family had been adversely affected by the pandemic, poverty and/ or by disruption in support (e.g., children living in SIMD 1 and 2 areas, on the waiting list for wellbeing/ mental health support etc.).
- 4.1.5 Thrive Under 5 (TU5) – the whole system food programme, funded from temporary child healthy weight investment from the Scottish Government, enables families in particular communities to access a range of food and well-being supports. This combined food insecurity and well-being programme includes food pantry memberships, access to fruit and vegetable vouchers (Alexandra Rose scheme), flat pack meals and cooking utensils, access to financial advice services, as well as cooking classes and other local engagement activity. The reach and activity of TU5 in the three communities in year one is shown in Table 1 below. 73% of all the families engaged have an annual income of less than £15,000.

- 4.1.6 Welfare Advice in Health Partnerships. Providing financial advisors in 84 General Practices in Glasgow City one day per week. This service was established in February 2022 with Scottish Government investment for two years initially. 1,256 patients were referred into the service in the first quarter (April-June) 2022, this includes families.
- 4.1.7 The Welfare Rights team has been providing in-person briefing sessions to HSCP staff and also one hour webinars addressing the current cost of living crisis. In the new year further sessions to all Children Services staff and managers (including staff within Social Care Connect) are planned to highlight what support is available for families who may be struggling.
- 4.1.8 Welfare Rights staff have been providing on-going support to Social Workers supporting kinship carers and working with Glasgow Life's "Family Finance Key Workers" project taking referrals from that project for benefit maximisation.
- 4.1.9 In South Glasgow all families with children on the at-risk register will be contacted to ensure that they are claiming the Scottish Child Payment that was extended to those over age 6 from November 2022. This exercise will then be replicated in East and West.
- 4.1.10 Health Improvement staff also continue to raise awareness of child poverty (through training and advocacy) and develop programmes that challenge the stigma and costs of inclusion in everyday services such as the nursery and school day.

5. Sustained alignment across Integrated Children's Services

- 5.1 The ongoing impact of the pandemic, alongside the current cost-of-living crisis, demands and dictates that we embrace new and radical approaches to make a real difference for families across our city. This shared recognition of the need for a fundamental shift in approach by both the Scottish Government and

City Administration has resulted in the creation of an innovative Child Poverty Pathfinder for the city. The Pathfinder has been established to agree and deliver on the practical actions required to deliver a well-functioning system that can secure radical new ways of working to tackle Child Poverty. Moreover, it remains critical that the culture and practice of our early identification, early help and earlier intervention is captured and replicated across the city. This new Pathfinder will provide new opportunities to redesign how services are accessed by and delivered to families, break down siloed working and share funding, data, and accountability to ensure that our children and families have the best support possible.

- 5.2 As indicated, The Pathfinder will utilise a No Wrong Door approach (aligned with the relaunch of Getting It Right for Every Child) that ensures that, regardless of where and how people engage across the system, they can access person-centred holistic support. Specifically, it will use the alignment of a No Wrong Door model, with the aspirations of Getting It Right for Every Child and the implementation of the Promise (the National Independent Review of Care). The desire and concrete objectives are to not only radically reimagine the way we work with children and families in the city of Glasgow, but to fundamentally alter the offer of early support, protection, and 'insulation' for all our children, young people, and their families. This Pathfinder will seek to coordinate tackling childhood poverty and inequality by not only aligning the strategic policy intent but ensuring every asset and opportunity in the city is maximised to the advantage of every child, young person, and citizen.
- 5.3 This Pathfinder, along with the aspirations of getting it right and implementation of the Promise, will focus on collaborating with citizens and ensuring that everyone in 'the system' engages with a consistent, robust, and early help ethos. The critical objective will be to prevent citizens and their families falling into poverty, supporting citizens out of poverty, and preventing people from reaching crisis or breakdown. The overarching aim is to use early intervention and preventative measures to ensure citizens are supported through the initial crisis or need and onto building resilience and self-management. The intention is to capitalise on the city's assets and infrastructure to consequently implement the aspirations of the Christie Commission and radically reduce the 'as is' system propensity to provide "too little too early and far too much too late" (Professor Brigid Featherstone).
- 5.4 The scale of the 'Failure Demand' needs radically reduced, consequently enabling assets and resources to be further strengthened towards early identification, early help and ultimately prevention. The city needs to inwardly invest in its own communities, neighbourhoods, and families to ensure that there is robust invest to prevent and invest to save.
- 5.5 With respect to Child Poverty and the Child Poverty Pathfinder, strong alliances have also been forged through the Glasgow Family Support Strategy approved by the Education, Skills and Early Years City Policy Committee and the Integration Joint Board (IJB) in January and April 2020 respectively. This Strategy has also enabled the city to create readiness for the further implementation of the Promise and to further strengthen and enhance the holistic family support model delivered by the Health & Social Care Partnership in partnership with the Third Sector. This will now be further supplemented and complemented by the Scottish Government's Whole Family Wellbeing Fund and this Pathfinder. The Joint Pathfinder and approach with Scottish Government is also aligned with the Whole Family Wellbeing Fund (both Element I and Element II). This additional joint venture and Partnership with Scottish Government provides further necessary alignment and provides a solid platform for a united, sustained and coordinated approach around poverty and early family support.

- 5.6 To date, it should be noted that the Glasgow City IJB and HSCP have sought to strengthen the prevention and infrastructure of the city with respect to poverty and inequality. In reporting into the Council and Chief Executive's Office with respect to both the Child Poverty Pathfinder and the current Cost of Living Crisis, we can demonstrate significant investment to sustain families through Kinship Care (at £11.1M per annum), Section 22 and 29 (£5.6M), Scottish Government Mental Health monies (£1.1M) and now an additional winter mitigation payment (£2.6M). This circa £20.4M invested into the city to 'insulate' and mitigate must be commended and highlighted as not only addressing the poverty in the city but demonstrating the delivery of the national integration and wellbeing outcomes.

6. Recommendations

- 6.1. The Integration Joint Board is asked to:
- a) Note the work described in the LCPAR for 2021/2022;
  - b) Note the continued work, across GCHSCP services to mitigate and prevent child poverty; and
  - c) Note the HSCP's contribution to both the Child Poverty Pathfinder and the additional Partnership with Scottish Government around the Whole Family Wellbeing fund.

KEY STATEMENT FROM CHIEF EXECUTIVES

The level of child poverty in Glasgow is still at an unacceptable level despite the efforts and funding provided to tackle it.

Glasgow City Council and GGC NHS remain committed to reduce child poverty and contribute towards the targets set by the Scottish Government. However, this challenge is set against a backdrop of the economical fall out from a global pandemic, stagnant rates of social security benefits and the cost-of-living crisis that threatens the living standards of so many of our families.

We will continue to work in partnership with support organisations across the city and support our teams to tackle the poverty crisis facing families in Glasgow.

We support the actions taken and documented in this report and thank the staff for their efforts during the year.

BACKGROUND

Under the Child Poverty (Scotland) Act 2017 ('the Act')<sup>1</sup> Local Authorities and NHS Boards have a statutory duty to jointly develop and publish annual Local Child Poverty Action Reports (LCPARs).

This LCPAR 2021/2022 is the 4th report that's been developed in partnership between Glasgow City Council (GCC) and Greater Glasgow and Clyde National Health Service (GGC NHS) with contributions from citywide 3rd sector partners. The three previous LCPARs can be viewed here.

The purpose of this report is to detail the work undertaken over the last twelve months, to reduce child poverty and support our communities during the pandemic. The challenges for our families are ever increasing and therefore it is important that we continue to work with them to better understand what they need.

The outcomes from the projects detailed in the report are very positive, however the level of child poverty continues to outgrow the progress that's being made by the council, NHS and our 3rd sector community organisations, details of these programmes and outcomes can be found in the linked appendices.

The appendices will also detail the work that has started for the period 2022/23 to help tackle child poverty in Glasgow.

The challenge for Glasgow in 2022 remains substantial. Our internal Centre for Civic Innovation (CCI) analysis of the available Council data reported in the Understanding Child Poverty in Glasgow (2021) report that child poverty rates in Glasgow were 26%.

1. Child Poverty (Scotland) Act 2017

Crucially, this is before the current cost of living crisis that will both deepen existing levels and push more of our children and families into poverty.

The report outlines our approach to reduce child poverty by providing assistance to families to maximise their income, using each of the three drivers for tackling poverty as shown below.

There are significant opportunities to secure additional income to other welfare benefits (administered UK, Scotland and locally) and cost of living support. Opportunities also exist to secure more income from employment both for those in and out of work; and importantly ensure that the collective actions prevent people from falling into poverty, supports people out of poverty and prevents people from reaching crisis points.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The effect of the Pandemic

The COVID-19 pandemic had a major impact on the communities within Glasgow and heightened the issues for those families on low incomes and those already regarded as in poverty<sup>2</sup>.

These vulnerable families are more susceptible to the social and economic impacts of the pandemic lockdown and the recovery period, these include:

- Money worries:
  - reduced earnings
  - additional costs of children being off school
  - increase in prices, food, fuel etc
- Claiming benefit for the first time:
  - Lack of knowledge of the system
  - Delays in benefit payments
- Lack of employment opportunities:
  - Many of the city's key businesses were closed, i.e., retail and hospitality.

Our analysis of families' data, who are in receipt of Housing Benefit (HB) and Council Tax Reduction (CTR), shows the impact that the pandemic has had on child poverty. Mid-way during the pandemic we found that an additional 3,143 households with 5,456 children claimed HB and CTR, 87% of these households are living below the poverty line.

2. Definition of relative income poverty is where households have less than 60% of contemporary median income

Cost of living crisis

The rise in the cost-of-living has further exacerbated the plight of many of our families and is pushing even more of them towards poverty. Prior to the domestic fuel charge increase in April, gas had increased on average by 28% while electricity had increased on average by 19%. The rise in the energy cap in April put domestic energy costs up by another 54%, with further increases anticipated in the Autumn of this year. Unfortunately, these are not the only rises in living costs. Rises in the cost of food has seen an increase in the use of foodbanks and pantries, while increases to the cost of fuel have added to the cost of transportation and therefore increasing the cost of household white goods and furniture and adding to the stress for families.

A recent report<sup>3</sup> that analysed online searches for services such as payday loans and energy advice calculated that Glasgow is the 4th most affected area in the UK as a result of the cost-of-living crisis.

There are many programmes and services offering support for our families to access financial support and cost of living supports and appendix 1 and 2 detail the activities being provided.

The Council's key partner, NHSGGC has been able to:

- Continue employability programmes as part of NHSGGC's Widening Access To Employment (WATE) strategy. Where activity was paused due to the pandemic this is now being rescheduled. New areas have included our Kickstart programme with Facilities and our wider focus on Community Wealth Building.
- Continue its approach to procurement in considering equality and child poverty issues.

3. cost-of-living-crisis-glasgow-4th-hardest-hit-city-in-the-uk

- Provide remote awareness sessions and advice for staff experiencing money worries and fuel poverty, in partnership with Home Energy Scotland
- Move its face-to-face onsite money advice provision, in our hospital sites, to remote engagement during the pandemic; this has now recommenced face to face.
- Developed an improvement plan for its equality outcome to improve perinatal care for women in poverty, BME communities and those experiencing gender-based violence.
- Scope a research commission for families with children with a disability.
- Support innovative work such as the Travel Card Pilot with the Specialist Needs in Pregnancy Service; provision of travel cots for those with no funds to purchase a cot and the pilot of support for patients and staff with Universal Credit issues, in partnership with DWP.

Five of our council tackling child poverty programmes are showcased later in the report, these are: The Financial Inclusion Support Officer project that delivers a range of holistic services for families with school age children, Digital support, Fuel Poverty, Employability and Glasgow Pathfinder Project.

Using data to measure child poverty in Glasgow

Measuring the impact that the pandemic has had on poverty in our city is only possible through the continuation of our work with colleagues in the Centre for Civic Innovation (CCI). Analysis of our data held on families across the city for the period February 2020 to February 2021, including Local Authority administered benefits such as HB and CTR, in addition to take up of educational entitlements, before housing costs, identifies the level of poverty these families are experiencing.

Based on the 2021 CCI Understanding Child Poverty Report analysis<sup>4</sup>, our families are on average £121 per week below the poverty line and the report evidences the following;

- There are 2,510 more children living in relative poverty than pre Covid-19; 27,995 children compared to 25,485 in February 2020.
- Poverty levels have deepened and on average families in relative poverty are now £115 per week below the poverty line compared to £107 per week pre pandemic.
- Families where at least one adult is in employment are, on average, £69 per week worse off and this has increased by £12pw during the pandemic. Where there are no adults in employment, on average households with children are £10 per week worse off than pre pandemic at £122 per week below the poverty line.
- The pandemic has resulted in an additional 1,650 children in lone parent families living in relative poverty. These children, now totalling 17,792, live in households that are on average £110 below the poverty line.
- Families in households where there is someone with a disability are on average £71 per week below the poverty line. Post pandemic there are 570 more children living in these households.

The Scottish Government as well as setting their ambitious targets for reducing child poverty by 2030, has also set interim targets for reducing child poverty by 1st April 2023:

Interim targets	Full targets
less than 18% should be living in relative poverty	less than 10% should be living in relative poverty
less than 14% should be living in absolute poverty	less than 5% should be living in absolute poverty
less than 8% should be living with combined low income and material deprivation	less than 5% should be living with combined low income and material deprivation
less than 8% should be living in persistent poverty	less than 5% should be living in persistent poverty

4. Child\_Poverty\_Report\_Covid-update-05/11/2021 (glasgow.gov.uk)

The Scottish Government child poverty statistics for Glasgow show that 24.6% of children are living in relative poverty and 20.2% are living in absolute poverty<sup>5</sup>.

It is important to note the increase in the levels of child poverty is before the current cost of living crisis that will both deepen existing levels and push more of our children and families into poverty.

5. SGovt's child poverty figures for Glasgow 2021

TACKLING CHILD POVERTY PROGRAMMES

The following Tackling Child Poverty programmes highlight some of the issues our families face and demonstrate the positive measures taken to mitigate against these issues. There are case studies from 2 of our programmes at Appendix 3.

Financial Inclusion Support Officer(FISO)

As part of the new innovative efforts to tackle child poverty in the city, a pilot programme to embed financial inclusion support into 4 secondary school settings began in late 2019. The pilot was initially aimed at targeting 2 of the 3 main drivers of child poverty:

- The cost of living
- Maximising entitlement to generate income from social security benefits.

Working in partnership with the city's financial inclusion advice agencies and the council's Education Services the aim of the pilot was to:

- Increase access to the various grants and awards available to young people.
- Support parents to maximise their income by accessing services to welfare benefits, grants and awards.

The success of the pilot resulted in Glasgow City Council funding an extended FISO programme, meaning that the FISO model of supported services is now currently operating across all but one of Glasgow's secondary schools.

Analysis of our financial monitoring of the project demonstrated the impact this is making, the following details, from the overall report<sup>6</sup>, are some high-level outcomes of the financial gains made for the period April 2021 – March 2022:

6. FISO Report

- 761 clients were assisted with cost of living supports with £480,023 financial gains.
- 587 clients were assisted in maximising income from social security benefits with financial gains of £1,317,829.
- 83 families who were experiencing digital exclusion received either refurbished desktop computers or Chromebooks and MiFi devices.

In phase 2 of the FISO programme we developed an employment referral pathway, where we assisted 76 clients with employment.

This FISO project was externally evaluated by Glasgow University and their report<sup>7</sup> included findings from feedback from 1-2-1 interviews with parents who had accessed the service.

The outcomes of the FISO project and the CCI work gave us a better understanding of the level and depth of poverty in Glasgow, and this led to discussions with the Scottish Government to understand what more we need to do collectively across Council, NHS and Scottish Government to remove the barriers facing families trying to access services.

Digital Support

Digital can be both a tool and a barrier to reducing poverty and inequality and we recognise that despite all the new opportunities digital offers, it can also be a source of worry or even exclusion for some of our families. GCC approved a new Digital Strategy in September 2020<sup>8</sup>, the Strategy reflects the learning and experience of the COVID-19 pandemic, showing the increasing importance of digital in how we work, provide services, engage with our communities and educate our children. ## Fuel Poverty

Fuel poverty impacts on the lives of some of the most disadvantaged children and young people. The impacts are varied and can mean parents cut back on essentials to keep their homes warm, and force families and young people into debt when they cannot afford to pay their energy bills. For a child, living in fuel poverty this can mean growing up in a home that is cold and damp; this will have a long-lasting effect on their physical and mental health, learning and enjoyment of life.

The pandemic and rise in fuel costs has exacerbated fuel poverty, with increased fuel costs for many families working from home. At the same time, income has fallen for many families due to unemployment and furlough. In recognition of the problem, many organisations have become involved in providing fuel vouchers for those in need of top-ups for their prepayment meters.

GCC have a strong partnership with HEAT Services at the Wise Group and funding was provided to offer Glasgow families in fuel poverty or at risk of fuel poverty, a top up for dry or prepayment meter along with energy advice and advocacy support. Referral pathways were set up with Glasgow Helps and the Financial Inclusion Support Officer programme to support vulnerable families engaged with these services. For the year 21/22 The Wise Group Heat Service engaged with over 2,200 households and reduced household energy debt by over £700k in Glasgow.

Employability

Providing training and mentoring to parents who may be long term unemployed or have never worked is about removing the barriers to employment that too many parents face. This support also improves the nature of that employment so that work plays a much bigger role in preventing poverty and lifting children out of poverty. Also included in this support is:

- the removal of childcare barriers,
- increasing pre-school childcare hours,
- extending wraparound childcare beyond the school day,
- looking at the quality of jobs and the pay available,
- ensuring there are no transport barriers to childcare, learning or work.

Appendix 2 details the employment programmes to reduce child poverty.

Parental Employment Support Fund

In November 2019, the Scottish Government launched a Parental Employment Support Fund (PESF) to target employed and unemployed families to secure employment and improve their annual income. PESF provides person-centred help for parents to address their barriers to work, which might include a lack of skills or work experience, health support, money advice, or motivational support. PESF targets the priority families as identified in 'Every Child, Every Chance'. The programme provides the flexible and user-based model of delivery that supports parents into work as well as helping those already in work to increase their household income. The programme provides:

- Targeted support to tackle the increased challenge of in-work poverty by helping parents already in work through the provision of training and employability support to remain active in the workplace and gain progression through a rewarding career.
- Confidential income and money advice which includes:
  - Benefit checks and help with any claim processes
  - Better off in work calculations

- Help with debts as these can be a barrier to work
- Compiling a CV
- Frequency of support is based on individual need.

Within the FISO programme there is a direct referral pathway to employability support, such as the Parental Employability Support Fund (PESF) that has been introduced, offering parents access to training and education, help to start their careers or a move towards better paid employment.

It is important that we align our programmes to support parents that ensures we use our resources effectively and provide a streamlined service. The Tackling Poverty team will continue to work with colleagues in Economic Development on employability campaigns to support parents into work.

Removing Barriers to Effective Support: Glasgow's Pathfinder Model

Over the course of February 2022, organisations with a role in supporting our children and families came together to discuss child poverty in Glasgow. Facilitated by the Improvement Service, a series of intensive workshops collated detail on both the successes and challenges to the effective delivery of child poverty interventions. More specifically, the outcome of the process identified and agreed practical actions necessary to deliver a well-functioning system that will inform radical new ways of working to tackle child poverty. These workshops have led to the identification of a number of pathfinders to tackle child poverty.

There are fundamental issues in proactively identifying families who may be at risk of poverty and ensuring that any contact with services is a gateway to holistic support. To allow us to continue to learn from our FISO programme and develop packages of services built around the needs of families, GCC and Scottish Government have established a project team to test how we can;

- use data insights to identify a target group of families;
- identify where these families are already interacting with services;
- proactively work with this group to develop a package of services that best supports families;
- ensure that any contact with city/partner services becomes part of this holistic service discussion.

The pathfinders will provide real opportunities to challenge how services are currently accessed and delivered to families, as city partners will work together to provide access to support for families, break down siloed working and share funding, data and accountability to redesign support for our families.

Included in the new pathfinders, is a new service called Glasgow Helps that was established during the pandemic. Glasgow Helps provides a person-centred holistic support service that connects families to a range of services. Initially established and funded by Scottish Government as part of the pandemic response, Glasgow Helps has secured funds for a further year (2022/23). Glasgow Helps will identify a number of campaigns to test this new approach to delivering supported access to services.

Early Campaigns

The pathfinder will initially focus on two key campaigns, these campaigns will provide opportunities to test different methodologies to target children and families in need of support.

These campaigns have emerged as part of extensive engagement with internal and external partners through a process of service design. There was broad consensus that both these campaigns offered an opportunity to address child poverty whilst testing new way of working. The 2 campaigns identified are as follows:

1. Eligible 2s – the council is committed to funding up to 1140 hours per year for eligible 2-year-olds. Children aged 2 years are eligible for a funded place if a parent is in receipt of: Income Support Job Seeker's Allowance (income based), any income related element of Employment and Support Allowance, Incapacity or Severe Disablement Allowance. This campaign focuses specifically within the Govan area and targets families with children under 3. The campaign will test different approaches to reach out to families and engage with them via our Glasgow Helps team.

Outcomes for families will be tracked and driven by the holistic conversations that are undertaken, with focus on what matters to the family. This campaign will afford opportunities to develop a bespoke monitoring framework that captures impacts for citizens as well as organisations. Families will be invited to take part in service design workshops to identify learnings to further refine and shape the service based on user needs and feedback.

2. Relationships with Schools – building on the success of the FISO model, currently operating across all but one of Glasgow's secondary schools, this campaign will explore opportunities to strengthen the collaboration between FISO and Glasgow Helps by providing referral pathways for any current gaps in services such as housing and mental health supports.

The pathfinder will work with organisations across Glasgow to:

- collaborate with between 50 -100 organisations as part of the Pathfinder approach to gain insights on services already being provided by the third sector to our families;
- realise the opportunity through a consistent case management approach to create and share a single view of the families, their needs, aspirations and capabilities;
- take a shared approach to measuring impact and outcomes across organisations;
- continue to create opportunities to shape the focus, use and monitoring of funding available to the city;

- maximise existing resources and ensure that as far as possible organisations use existing services as opposed to creating additional services, which replicate those that are already in place.

For our city we will ensure;

- a strong, collaborative and consistent approach to supporting our families;
- a collective approach to service redesign, responding to changing needs of our families;
- appropriate sharing of data to inform investment decisions that prioritise prevention and early intervention and reduce the need for more costly crisis responses;
- that we can evidence the collective impact of this approach and that the wellbeing and economic growth of the city is both improved and effectively measured.

For Scotland we will secure;

- an understanding of what works when it comes to integrated, person-centred service delivery, and a model, and learning and experience, which can be used to inform other projects nationwide;
- solutions to overcoming barriers that are experienced nationwide.

Underpinning all of these benefits is the opportunity to initiate whole system change that will set the city on a pathway to true transformation.

The pathfinder will consider the funding and resources available from a citywide perspective to reduce child poverty.

GOVERNANCE

Child poverty has prominence across the city's strategic boards and plans. Key areas of importance in 2021/22 are:

Child Poverty Governance Board

Our mechanism for influencing Glasgow City Council's strategies is via the Child Poverty Governance Board that has representation from senior management across the council, HSCP and is chaired by the Executive Director of Financial Services. This board's priority is to ensure that activities to address child poverty are central to the council's decision-making process and strategies being developed in response to the impact of the pandemic.

Scottish Government Pathfinder Board

This innovative pathfinder will be overseen by a multi-agency steering group with responsibility for setting the strategic direction and maintaining the ambition, momentum and focus of the pathfinder. This group will include Glasgow City Council, Scottish Government (Covid Recovery Directorate and Child Poverty Lead), and Glasgow Health & Social Care Partnership. Additional participants or governance structures will be identified as the scope is further refined.

Child Poverty Co-ordinating Group

GGC NHS have a Child Poverty Co-ordinating Group that provides the governance for Glasgow City HSCP and the other partnerships in the other five LCPAR areas within GGC NHS. This reports to the Public Health Committee of the health board.

CHILD POVERTY EQIA

An equalities impact assessment has been carried out on this report for protected characteristic<sup>9</sup>.

Actions in this report also contribute to reducing the inequalities caused by socio-economic disadvantage for families, in line with the Fairer Scotland Duty. We fully recognise the disproportionate impact of the pandemic on particular communities and protected characteristic groups in Glasgow. The current and proposed actions focus on mitigating the disproportionate impact on sex, disability, age and race differences in child poverty. Intersectional issues will be considered and covered specifically on a programme basis.

CONCLUSION

While the pandemic has presented unprecedented challenges for our families and service providers, activity to challenge and raise awareness of child poverty has been taken forward at every opportunity and continues to be a focus of our partnership work with the Scottish Government particularly as we seek to support our local communities in their COVID-19 renewal and recovery.

Our report demonstrates that some progress has been made, however we realise that there is much work still to be done. GCC, NHSGGC and partners will be listening to and working with families in developing services to help achieve the shared ambition of reducing child poverty and helping families across Glasgow.

Holiday Activity Programme			Children`s Holiday Activity programme was initially developed in April 2018 to address food poverty in Glasgow. Glasgow City Council has continued to fund this programme for 2022, to enable community organisations to provide nutritious food and activity for our young people across Glasgow.	The usual format is for children/young people to attend various venues where they are provided with a nutritious meal(s) and some form of activity to avoid any stigma associated with “free food”. With the easing of COVID restrictions, most organisations were able to return to the normal service delivery. Where this was not possible, the organisations either ran with less participants in order to adhere to social distancing or delivered meals and activity packs to homes. Partnership working is always strong during the CHFP with organisations working together to ensure there is no duplication of service, a variety of activities provided, working jointly on the food or activities provision and taking referrals from other organisations if they are at capacity. Spring 2021 (10 days), 12,121 children participated in the programme. 3,621 food vouchers were issued totalling £53,515 Total expenditure £414,076.45 Summer 2021 (35 days), 16,500 children participated in the programme. 385,495 prepared meals and snacks were provided. Family Nurse Partnership – Child and Family Response Model
	Ward	Citywide	Advice worker located within Cairnbrook Centre to provide Money Advice Services and Financial Inclusion. Service Provision was through telephone appointments, 1:1 appointments and Home visits The main focus will be on training to upskill nurses thus ensuring a consistent approach to income maximisation across teams regardless of the level of experience. Using role modelling and the parallel process it is envisaged that the project will promote greater confidence in young mums to access services themselves thus improving financial literacy. Clients can then share this knowledge with family and friends to build social capital. In taking this partnership approach the clients, GEMAP, Health Improvement and FNP can evidence the value of working together to produce long lasting improvements and outcomes in financial literacy which can be replicated across other services. In the medium term the nurses could then implement their skills to role model with the clients, ensure that income is maximised and increase self- efficacy and financial literacy among FNP clients thereby improving economic self -sufficiency. Having Advisor support increased the capacity for family nurses to focus on delivering programme content to improve outcomes in other areas such as parenting and attachment and child health and development. In the long term, as clients improve their outcomes and are more financially literate, they can use their self- efficacy to share their journey, knowledge and experience with others e.g., via case studies. Although the test was focused on NE Glasgow (most deprived) the reach was across all FNP teams in NHS GGC by capacity building and skills development in the area of financial inclusion.	It was anticipated that having an advice worker embedded within FNP would improve outcomes for families through delivery of tailored education and learning to Family Nurses. ## APPENDIX 3 CASE STUDIES

Financial Inclusion Support Officer (FISO)

As part of our efforts to tackle child poverty in Glasgow we introduced a Financial Inclusion Support Officer (FISO) in all but one of our secondary schools in the city. The aim of the services is to:

- Increase access to the various grants and awards available to young people.
- Support parents to maximise their income by accessing services to welfare benefits, grants and awards.

Case Study 1

Our clients are a couple and their three teenage children who escaped from Syria in August 2019. They are a highly motivated and hard-working family whose children are at the top achievement level in their year groups

Client was put into contact through the school with the Financial Inclusion Support service first in May 2020 for support with a successful Aberlour Trust application after they had been granted asylum seeker status. This was to help the children with a laptop to help with school and homework during the lockdown, and to help with buying clothes and shoes for their children. The family were granted refugee status in December 2020 and were in temp accommodation claiming Universal Credit (UC), Child Benefit (CB) and Housing Benefit (HB).

The parent contacted the service again in February 2021 for support with Free School Meals (FSM), School Clothing Grant (SCG) and Educational Maintenance Allowance (EMA) applications, all were successful. They were moved to a housing association property claiming UC and CB. They also had been awarded a Scottish Welfare Fund (SWF) grant for basic white goods and furniture but were using UC advances to buy chairs and a table. They also had extra costs because they had to pay taxis to get their children to school every day due to the limited public transport in the area. Moreover, their housing costs were now included in their UC payment, and consequently, they were now affected by the Benefit Cap to the tune of £256 per month. The family were using foodbanks regularly and were spending most of their time in one room because of the heating costs.

The service supported the parent to make a claim for Discretionary Housing Payment (DHP) for financial help with their housing costs. We also supported the family with another successful application to the Aberlour Trust for help with these extra costs. A referral was made to GHeat for energy advice and the Digital Inclusion Service for the parents to have a desktop and get support to access support online. A referral was also made to our Money Advice service for support to reduce deductions, from their UC for previous advance payments, to an affordable amount. They also received advice about their future credit options.

The DHP was awarded in May 2021 at an amount of £256 per month

The family contacted the service again in October 2021 for support with two EMA applications.

Financial Gains	£
EMA x 3	£4680
DHP	£3071
Aberlour x 2	£1300
FSM	£2812
Total financial gain	£11,863

Other Results

- Due to the family getting help with the Benefit Cap they have been able to save up for and buy a car and cut their transport costs from £75+ a week
- The family have changed their electricity and gas supplier with support from GHeat
- The family really appreciate the continuing support, expertise, empathy, understanding, and raising of awareness that they have received.
- The family feel that not only did they get the support they needed at the time with their finances, but that the project has supported them to make more knowledgeable and confident in making financial decisions
- The parents are better able to claim benefits online because of the desktop, the support received, and the knowledge gained about their benefit entitlements
- The family feel more financially secure, motivated and confident in their future and the mother of the family is now doing a Master's Degree in Digital Transformation, while the father is doing ESOL classes to improve their employability

About the client:

The client is a 51-year-old Swedish national, currently pre-settled in Scotland with his wife and two children. This family have been resident since 2020.

Client lives in private-rented accommodation and at present is undergoing a massive shift in his working life. At the moment, the client is working part-time due to a lack of available work and has already started adjusting to this drop in income.

About the case:

The client self-referred to Money Matters via the FISO project as both children attend one of the schools in our catchment. The referral was made originally to source additional funding to help across the household.

Client requires assistance with budgeting, sourcing any missing benefits and in particular, is looking for any additional support through the school to cover the costs of meals and travel.

Our client has two kids in high school with varying hobbies and commitments for after-school clubs and they were worried these would have to be withdrawn in order to eat.

Further details and conclusion:

We started by creating a full personal budget with the client and quickly discovered that they live within very tight margins at present. The client had recently made allowances to reduce their energy costs and had managed to achieve an impressively low monthly spend.

The real issues with the budget were inflated spending on travel for client and the kids and food shopping (again, this was mainly due to the kids' differing diets).

Tasked with reducing the budget in a practical way, we provided great tips on reducing these towering food costs (create a meal plan, batch cook lunches, stocking up on essentials, utilising what's already in the cupboard, etc) to which the client was enthusiastic to get started with. We are checking in with the client for this ongoing to monitor future costs.

For travel costs, we advised on a simple switch from daily bus tickets to a weekly pass and this saw an instant saving.

Further to the budget, we conducted a full benefit check, and it was instantly clear there were several holes in the client's entitlement. Our client was claiming Universal Credit, but no Child Benefit as they thought the Child Element and Child Benefit were one and the same.

The client works part time, but the household earnings remained under the threshold for client to remain eligible to apply for school-based benefits.

Firstly, we completed an application for Child Benefit and as a result, we have successfully secured a backdated gain of £217.15 for the client, with an additional ongoing gain of £36.25pw. This will greatly ease the tension of juggling food costs with maintaining the children's after school activities, for which the client is greatly appreciative of.

We have also escalated a last-minute application through Glasgow City Council and as a result, we are currently awaiting confirmation of £300 in Clothing Grant payments and a further £350 in Free School Meals payments. These payments will greatly help the client ensure their children have suitable clothing for the summer.

On another note, we have discussed the process for Young Scot Cards to cover the children's travel costs and discovered a successful application was made in mid-March. The client was previously unsure what this was for but is thrilled with this new information. We also illustrated the other benefits the Young Scot Card holds in terms of benefits and discounts and – paired with the money saved on children's bus travel each week – this will provide a hugely positive change to the client's budget moving forward.

Since contacting Money Matters, we have managed to obtain steady positive incomes for the client in a relatively short space of time, and the client is committed to continuing this relationship with us through the summer and beyond to next term.

Glasgow Helps Single Parents

Supporting Families (SF) is a project focused on employability, skills development, addressing childcare and all elements of wellbeing (financial/mental/physical). It targets unemployed, low-income families, specifically aimed at the following child priority groups: lone parents, households where someone is disabled, families with three or more children, minority ethnic families, families with a child under one year old and families where the mother is under 25 years of age.

One of the main components of the project is the Family Support Worker (FSW) role. The FSW works closely with all referred families from each education establishment to deliver holistic support to enable participation and remove barriers to opportunities, to best meet the needs of low-income families.

Casestudy 3

Selena lives with two daughters (Aged 16 and 13) in a housing association flat in Possil, Glasgow. Selena was referred to the Glasgow service after contacting the OPFS parent helpline. Selena had experienced domestic abuse in a previous marriage, leaving her too anxious to leave the house. Selena's 13-year-old daughter, Samira, also had debilitating anxiety. Selena and Samira needed support with their wellbeing. However, they were living on the basic rates of Universal Credit, with no support for their health-related extra costs or for Selena's costs as a carer. As Selena's health conditions and carer status were not recognised by Universal Credit, she had to look for work and apply for jobs in exchange for her benefit. Selena was unable to do this due to her health, putting her at risk of sanctions.

What action was taken?

We began with crisis support: Selena was struggling to cover food costs so we provided her with £50 in ASDA vouchers to help meet these immediate costs.

We then did a benefits check: We identified that Selena should provide medical certificates to Universal Credit, be referred to a 'work capability assessment' (WCA) and if found 'unfit for work', be protected from sanctions. Secondly, Selena and Samira might get disability benefits to help them with the extra costs of their care and mobility needs. Selena could apply for 'Personal Independence Payment' (PIP) and Samira 'Child Disability Payment' (CDP). Thirdly, if Samira was awarded CDP at the right rate, then Selena's could apply for Carer's Allowance (CA). Her carer status would also be recognised in Universal Credit, entitling her to the Carer's Element, stop her being required to work, also protecting her from sanctions. Lastly, if CDP is awarded, Selena could get a 'Disabled Child Addition' in her Universal Credit. The award of these benefits would be a great support to Selena and her family, however the prospect of applying for them was very daunting to Selena.

We referred Selena to our Family Support team. The team contacted Selena and arranged to make a home visit. They assisted Selena with referrals to the local pantry, and for delivery of food parcels. They helped Selena navigate the mental health support available to her family, and the support for Samira at school. The team check in Selena regularly, with the long term aim of her attending group sessions with OPFS to help her boost her confidence.

With this holistic support in place, we were able to help Selena understand the claims and assessment procedure for the benefits she needed to claim and help her to prioritise which ones to do in which order. We helped her complete assessment forms for these benefits, using our expert knowledge of the legal tests to help

Selena provide relevant evidence, written in the language of the tests.

Outcomes

Selena was awarded 'Limited Capability for Work' in Universal Credit. She now no longer needs to search for work to get benefits. This has provided Selena with the security and headspace to focus on her emotional wellbeing, to recover from the abuse she experienced, and support her children to develop and gain confidence.

Selena was awarded enhanced rate daily living and standard rate mobility components of PIP, providing her with much-needed help to meet the extra costs related to her long-term health conditions.

Samira was awarded the low rate of the care and mobility component of CDP. As this was too low, we assisted Selena to make a 'redetermination request' to Social Security Scotland, resulting in an award of the middle rate care component instead.

The middle rate care component was crucial. Selena could now claim Carers Allowance and the Carer Element of Universal Credit. We assisted Selena to apply for these. Lastly, Selena was also entitled to the Disabled Child Addition in Universal Credit. After DWP failed to award this addition, we assisted Selena to make a mandatory reconsideration request, resulting in this being successfully awarded too.

In summary, Selena and her family's disability needs, and Selena's needs as a carer, are now recognised financially and in terms of conditionality by the UK and Scotland social security system. Selena's mental health and language barriers meant she would not have been able to achieve this response without our support.

Furthermore, this meant Selena could continue to engage with our Family Support team. They continue to meet Selena one-to-one, helping build her confidence outside the house, gaining greater independence for her and her children.

This case study shows:

- The difficulties experienced by lone parents fleeing domestic abuse: long-term impacts on mental health, isolation in a new community. Poverty and welfare policy (sanctions, health assessments) makes it harder to achieve wellbeing.
- The impact of one-to-one expert welfare rights advice and case work: Selena was empowered to navigate the welfare system, increasing her confidence and skills in managing her and her family's finances.
- The value of One Parent Families Scotland's holistic service to parents: Our Financial Inclusion and Family Support team worked closely together to provide holistic support with money and wellbeing to empower this parent.

Project name: One Parent Families Scotland*Glasgow Helps Single Parents*Case Study 4*Casestudy: Kate

Kate is a single parent who lives with her 3 children in a house rented from her local housing association. Her income was reduced due to being subject to the Welfare Benefit Cap. Kate was in severe financial difficulty that was impacting the wellbeing of the family as a whole. Kate contacted OPFS for support as she was stressed out trying to cover her essential outgoings on a week-to-week basis. Kate's oldest daughter has a rare gastric intestinal condition that required frequent visits to the hospital. Kate had previously applied for Child DLA but had given up when it was refused. Kate had recently been supported with 2 Winter Essential payments and a payment from the OPFS Christmas appeal as part of OPFS' Crisis support.

What action was taken?

The OPFS adviser completed an initial benefit check and advised Kate that she may be entitled to Child DLA for her daughter. Kate was also advised that if Child DLA was awarded this would take the family out of the welfare benefit cap that would significantly increase the family income.

The adviser assisted Kate to apply for Child DLA that was then awarded and backdated to the initial date of claim. The adviser then completed a post award benefit check. Kate was then assisted to apply for Carers Allowance and to report the change of circumstances to her Universal Credit claim. Kate was awarded the Carers Allowance and the Benefit Cap was removed from her Universal Credit claim. Both these awards were backdated to the start of the Child Disability claim. Kate was further assisted to apply for the Carers Allowance Supplement as she now qualified during the assessment period due to backdate of the claims.

After taking the changes to all the benefits into account, the family income has increased by £832.86 per month plus two CAS payment totalling £475.80 for this year. Kate was also given backdated payments of £7793.00

Before and after:

Before	Monthly income
	£1796.48

After	Monthly income
	£2629.34

The above table shows the client's financial position before and after assistance from OPFS.

The change to their circumstances has had a huge difference to the family not only financially but has also improved their wellbeing. Kate no longer has to struggle to afford basic essentials for her family and feels much less stressed. Kate said that she felt as if a weight had been lifted off her and she was now able to take the family out for treats where before she could not afford to do this.

Social policy issues:

This case study shows:

This case is an example of the affect that the Welfare Benefit Cap has on the lives of single parents and their families. It particularly affects families where there are more than two children. By removing the cap in this case, the family have been lifted out of poverty and are able to access the full amount of income they are entitled to. It also highlights the enhanced consequences that families affected by the cap are currently experiencing due to the cost-of-living rises.

OPFS are actively campaigning to have this unjust penalty removed by the U.K. government and are working with single parents to access benefits that remove them from the cap.

Supporting Parents

The programme is focused on employability, skills development and wellbeing. It targets unemployed, low-income families, specifically aimed at the following child priority groups.

Case Study 5

Parent A met with the Family Support & Engagement Worker in the playground of the nursery during a parent consultation exercise. After a brief chat about their current family situation and how the SF project could support them, a date was made to meet and complete a Holistic Needs Assessment and discuss how she could be best supported. At this stage in Parent A's journey with the SF Project they had made the decision that they would like to work within a school setting as they had some previous volunteering experience with their local primary school prior to the pandemic. Their son was due to start school in August and they felt this was the perfect time for them to build their confidence and to help improve their family's life. Parent A was being supported by Glasgow Life's Family Finance Team from a referral made. The project worker was able to collaborate closely with the key worker within that team to help move them to a position where their finances were stable. The parent was supported until they were confident enough to begin looking for employment opportunities.

Parent A had never had a job and after settling in Scotland from Sudan became a full-time parent to their now 4 children ranging between 4yrs to 14yrs. This was a big step in the journey but having the support and having their finances stabilised it was one they felt ready to take.

Job and Business Glasgow and Jobcentre worked together, and Parent A registered for Jet's programme.

A Job was advertised on My Job Scotland and with some support Parent A was able to apply for this post. Parent A was quickly invited to an interview and was subsequently successful in securing a post and their first ever job as a School Support Assistant with a local authority employer. They started work in their first ever employment in March 2022 and are now saving to gain citizenship for themselves and their eldest daughter.

Parent A is a great example of the impact the Supporting Families Project can have on helping parents/families to improve their quality of life. Parent A has been clear in their feedback that gaining employment and their first ever job has improved both theirs and their family's life and stated that they could not be happier.

In a recent communication from Parent A they stated;

"So first time in my job I'm so excited to start work with kids. I'm so confident now and I learned new skills like listening and practice with kids really good job. I'm so proud of myself and my kids and my husband are very happy with this job my feedback is (I) recommended everyone to work as a volunteer work really helpful for everyone thanks."
