Action Ref No 76 – Medium Term Financial Outlook 2024-2027 – Motion – The Chair to write to the UK and Scottish Governments outlining the immediate and medium term consequences for the IJB of real terms budget cuts and increasing demand, urging them to provide additional funding and to reject tax and spend decisions which reduce funding for public services. 8. Chief Officer Update

Jacqueline Kerr provided the following update.

Delayed Discharges – the current position for acute delays is 168 people delayed, of those, 61 are Adults with Incapacity (AWI). There has been a significant increase in the number of delays recorded on the system during April 2024, an average of 48 delays were put on the Trak Care system each week. Intermediate Care is running at capacity, and Discharge to Assess and Intermediate Care have placed 49 patients since 22nd April 2024.

Homelessness – there were 775 homeless applications during April 2024. The current homeless applications are at 6239. The total number of households in temporary accommodation is 3741, and of those 1170 are from asylum and refugee households. There are 1370 households in Bed and Breakfast accommodation, and of those 670 are refugee and asylum households.

Members questioned if there is a particular reason the delays are higher than normal for this time of year. Officers advised that they are looking at the specifics regarding demand in the system and there is a meeting today with the Health Board to discuss further.

9. Integration Joint Board – 2024-25 Budget Update

Margaret Hogg presented a report updating on the revenue budget for Glasgow City Integration Joint Board for 2024-25 following approval of the budget by the IJB on 20 March 2024.

Officers advised that savings proposals had been developed which proposed the closure of the Hospital at Home service and a review of community health services within Children and Families. Decisions on these proposals are now being deferred to June 2024. This additional time will be used to further refine proposals including consideration of different delivery models, exploration of funding options and consideration of alternate options where appropriate. These will be the subject of separate reports to the June IJB to provide IJB Members with the information required to support decision making.

Members questioned if deferring some of the savings proposals will make the scale of the financial pressures greater. Officers advised that they can deliver through additional turnover for a further month to allow the proposals to be presented to the June IJB.

There was a discussion relating to Equality Impact Assessments (EQIAs) and how the IJB is sighted on mitigations. Officers advised that they can only identify the mitigations that are currently in place. Some proposals need to be taken through development to see the full detail of the impact of the changes. Further mitigations will be put in place and further EQIAs will be undertaken and published on-line. Officers also advised that it is not unusual to have partially complete EQIAs, as decisions can only be made with the information available, but noted if there are specific concerns from Members in relation to mitigations, these can be brought back to the IJB.

Members highlighted the additional funding which has been confirmed for Glasgow City Council of which around 70% flows from consequential for spending in social care and suggested that the IJB should be seeking a share of this funding. Members also questioned, if the IJB receive a share, how this would be prioritised.

Officers advised that if additional funding is identified, and forthcoming to the IJB from Glasgow City Council, it will be used to fund social care services to alleviate pressures. Cllr Cunningham advised that he has had initial discussions with the City Treasurer and engaged with the Chief Officer around a list of priorities for potential additional funding.

The Local Authority Trade Union Representative highlighted the savings proposal to remove social care staff from Shared Care practices and realign to a Third Sector Supported Treatment and Recovery Service (STARS) model and expressed concerns around the suitability of the third sector to take on this work. Officers advised that third sector partners are very experienced in this area and can deliver the STARS model. More people are now moving through recovery than last year. There have been challenges raised by staff within Shared Care and Alcohol and Drug Recovery Services (ADRS) and meetings have taken place with the staff affected. Officers advised that the shared care scheme is not consistently applied across the city and the proposals will result in a more holistic approach which will be a multi-disciplinary model. The third sector can deliver within primary care for people who are much more stable. Those in shared care are at the lower end of risk and vulnerability matrix.

The Staff Side Representative (NHS GG&C) agreed with the points made by the Local Authority Trade Union representative and asked the IJB to consider the evidence base when coming to a decision on all proposals. Clarity was sought on whether the demand for a Sexual Health Counselling Service can be picked up by the third sector. Officers confirmed that this will be managed through turnover to allow the review of the counselling service to conclude. Anyone on a waiting list will have a proper assessment and redirection to other parts of the service if necessary if they require additional support.

In relation to homelessness, the Staff Side Representative (NHS GG&C) asked what impact the increase in applications is having on the Complex Care Team. Officers advised that they are very mindful of the pressures but noted the process for applications is very robust to support staff. Officers highlighted that the two posts referred to in the report are vacant posts which have not been available to the service. The service does offer support to people in B&Bs, however people move through to mainstream services where robust management arrangements are in place to manage caseloads.

Cllr Reid-McConnell asked for more detail in relation to engagement with external groups within the third and independent sector and how these transfer into mitigations. Officers advised that extensive engagement has taken place via Locality Engagement Forums and with Glasgow Disability Alliance which has been relatively positive and there is a commitment to engagement going forward in terms of budget reductions. Officers agreed to share further detail off-line if required.

With reference to the Children's Service Change Fund, clarity was sought on the competing priorities of Social Work and Education Services and how this will be mitigated across those two departments. Officers confirmed they were clear on the opportunities for mitigation and have invested significantly in family support services. There is a clear commissioning strategy and when needs in children are identified by Education Services, Social Work will liaise with them to address those needs and mitigate.

Cllr Casey, GCC Convener for Homelessness, highlighted the success of the RRTP in preventing homelessness and noted the report is helpful in articulating some of the pressures being faced in Glasgow. Although it is positive that the Scottish Government (SG) have extended the funding by a further year, he stressed the need to continue to make the case for this to be continued. There should also be an ask of the SG to look at different models of funding to take account of the need in Glasgow.

A discussion took place on the plans by the Home Office around forced detentions and removals in Scotland. Officers advised that discussions are ongoing, but Glasgow City have a very clear objection to any forced evictions, and this has been raised at a national meeting this week. Officers are liaising closely with Police Scotland to track any potential evictions in Mears accommodation.

Members highlighted the new Housing Bill which is currently out for consultation and includes homelessness prevention duties and asked how the IJB/HSCP are contributing to this. Officers confirmed that Neighbourhood and Regeneration Services (NRS) are leading on this for the Council and the HSCP have provided comments.

The Local Authority Trade Union Representative highlighted the scale and complexity in Glasgow and raised concerns in relation to staffing, particularly in relation to staff on temporary contracts as a result of the funding model for RRTP. Officers highlighted two recruitment opportunities for additional posts within Health and Social Care Connect to deal with demand in the system. They agreed however that should continued funding not be secured, this will present significant challenges in subsequent years.

Further information was sought on prison homelessness services, in relation to access to the Housing First model, tenancy sustainment etc. Officers advised that they would provide further detail outwith the meeting.

Officers

Members asked how many homelessness cases are currently going through a judicial review. Officers advised that they have seen an increase in judicial reviews from a range of organisations, with 130 on average per period for the last 3 months.

An update was requested on discussions with SG on Local Connections legislation. Cllr Casey confirmed it is an ongoing discussion and a Local Connections solution group was established by SG to address the pressures being faced by local authorities. The Housing Minister is discussing it with COSLA as it requires agreement by all 32 local authorities.

Discussion took place on availability of Lets and Officers confirmed that a joint letter was issued from the HSCP and NRS to Registered Social Landlords (RSLs) to request an increase in the number of Lets for homeless households to 76%. There are challenges around demand and availability but there are positive initiatives taking place.

Members acknowledged the huge amount of work going on and thanked staff who are working under immense pressure.
